

*Equity,
Sustainability,
Productivity, Empowerment...*

Artist rendering of the proposed, new healthcare instruction facility planned at South Suburban College/South Holland, Illinois

South Suburban College – a passionate commitment to “human” development in Chicago’s Southland.

South Suburban College

is dedicated to inspiring and equipping students to meet real needs in the community and direct their own lives.

Ammar Allaluki
Echo Tech, Loyola Hospital
2013 Libyan immigrant

Phyllen Chaney
Emergency Room Clerk
Pictured right, UIC COVID-19 tent

Clifton Doss
Radiologic Technologist
UC Chicago Ingalls Memorial

Ozurvigbo Ijeoma Atulegwu
Registered Nurse, Villa at South Holland;
Anesthesiology graduate student

There are four pillars of human development...

Equity: equal access to opportunities irrespective of race, ethnicity or economic status;

Sustainability: which requires continuity in the availability of and access to opportunity;

Productivity: human work being constantly advanced and enriched by building capabilities in people to meet society's needs and,

Empowerment: giving people – especially in socially and economically disadvantaged communities – increased freedom to make choices.

SSC is passionately committed to help end systemic poverty and social injustice in Chicago's Southland, by inspiring and equipping our students to meet real needs in the community and take charge of their own lives.

WE HAVE RISEN TO THIS CHALLENGE WITH OUR PROPOSED
Allied Health & Nursing Center

75% of all Healthcare is provided by professionals other than physicians.

For over 90 years South Suburban College has been preparing caring people to provide exceptional care – offering 12 Certificate and Associate Degree Programs with graduates exceeding the national certification exam pass rates in all programs.

But the need for qualified health care professionals keeps growing and we must expand to meet this demand.

This generation of students, indeed the entire Chicago Southland region, desperately needs your help to share in the economic promise of America.

Your generous investment in our proposed Allied Health & Nursing Center will work doubly hard – contributing to the health of people throughout Chicago's Southland and the health of the local economy – maximizing economic opportunity, fairness and equity throughout the region and empowering students to be artisans of their own lives. Guaranteed, it's the healthiest investment you can make.

For more information regarding SSC's Proposed Allied Health & Nursing Center or our professional health care academic programs, log onto ssc.edu.

The Healthiest Investment You Can Make.

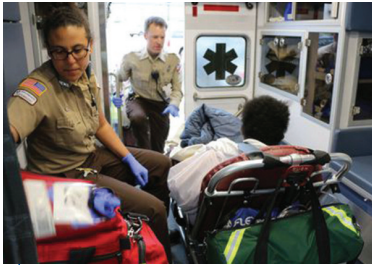

Coding Specialist

Community Health Worker

Echocardiography

EMS & EMT

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI)

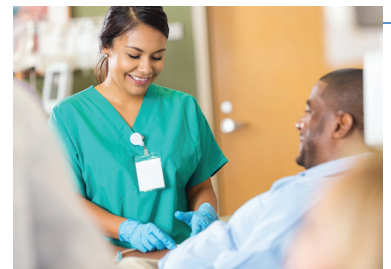

Medical Assistant

Occupational Therapy Assistant

Pharmacy Technician

Phlebotomy

Nursing

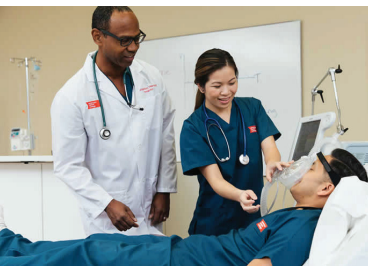

Radiologic Technology

Speech Language Pathology Assistant

New! Dental Hygiene

New! Respiratory Technician

New! Physical Therapy Assistant

New! Patient Care Technician

The Healthiest Investment You Can Make.

15800 S. State St. • South Holland, IL 60473 • (708) 225-5846 • ssc.edu/AHNC