THE CALUMET TRIANGLE

As transportation needs evolve, the study focuses on safety for vulnerable road users, pedestrians, cyclists, and transit riders; While considering how land use and zoning policies can improve connectivity. This initiative aims to create a more accessible and safer environment for all.

The Calumet Triangle Corridor Study focuses on improving bikeways, pedestrian access, transit, intersections, and waterfront areas to enhance mobility and safety.

It prioritizes pedestrians, cyclists, and transit users while exploring housing and zoning strategies for a more connected community.
